

Les contes d'Isabelle, c'est toute une histoire...

Des contes sur mesure, en entreprise, pour les personnes en rupture, pour les enfants et toutes les personnes qui ont gardé leur âme d'enfant !

C'est en 2012 que le déclic pour les contes se produit : lors d'un trajet en voiture, afin de divertir sa fille âgée alors de 4 ans, Isabelle Livet lui invente des histoires. Stage d'initiation, formations qui s'enchaînent, opportunité de conter dans des environnements variés, ainsi a commencé son aventure liée au conte il y a dix ans. Depuis, Isabelle a développé son expérience en la couplant à son parcours en communication-rédaction, car elle est convaincue que le conte, véritable outil de sensibilisation et créateur de liens, a sa place hors des sentiers battus, et pas seulement à Noël !

Conter aux enfants

Aux structures accueillant les enfants, Isabelle propose de faire vivre leurs valeurs de façon ludique et d'animer des semaines ou mois à thème en abordant des problématiques et sujets d'actualité (diversité, respect, courage, bienveillance, etc.). Elle aime impliquer les enfants en les invitant à créer un conte, et leur faire découvrir le conte de manière pratique dans le cadre de cours « conte et écriture ».

Conter pour valoriser le patrimoine bâti, culturel et paysager

Pour les associations promouvant le développement durable et le patrimoine dans toutes ses dimensions, Isabelle fait la part belle aux contes sur fond de trame historique et culturelle, permettant de (re)découvrir les racines.

Quel que soit le lieu, y compris en extérieur, les Contes d'Isabelle s'adaptent à tous vos besoins et souhaits, à tout moment de l'année ! Pour un événement, une inauguration, une manifestation, un jubilé ou tout autre prétexte, faites appel à ses services !

Les Contes d'Isabelle
C'est toute une histoire

Isabelle Livet | Ch. de la Raveyre 5
1144 Ballens | 076 377 28 37
contact@lescontesdisabelle.ch
www.lescontesdisabelle.ch

The tales of Isabelle (Les contes d'Isabelle): It's a story in itself...

Telling stories for businesses, for people with disabilities, for children and for anyone who is still a child at heart!

It was in 2012 that Isabelle Livet got the idea of becoming a teller of tales when she made up stories to entertain her four-year-old daughter during a long car journey. Her storytelling business began ten years ago after a period of training, as one session led to another and she had the opportunity to tell her tales in different places. Since then, Isabelle has developed the concept by coupling it with her training in communications and writing, because she is convinced that storytelling – an excellent way of raising awareness and making connections – has its place in all kinds of settings, and not just at Christmas!

Storytelling in business

Isabelle offers her services to companies to tell their stories and for team building exercises or to broach delicate subjects. She also puts on shows and themed seminars.

Storytelling for marginalised groups

Isabelle also realised she could use her storytelling to help bring about changes in society and wanted to tell her tales to vulnerable and disadvantaged groups – those who have lost their jobs, people suffering from health problems, and people with disabilities, etc. She goes into hospitals, clinics, prisons and institutions and works with organisations who help people back into work, raising awareness about the resources available to them, encouraging them to find the strength to bounce back, or quite simply giving people an opportunity to laugh and let go, with her shows and storytelling workshops.

Storytelling for children

For organisations working with children, Isabelle helps raise awareness of important issues in a fun way and leads themed weeks or months by raising awareness on current topics such as diversity, respect, courage, kindness, etc. She also likes to get the children involved by inviting them to write stories and teaching them about storytelling in a practical way within the framework of "storytelling and writing" lessons.

Storytelling to enhance the heritage of buildings, cultures and landscapes

Isabelle also tells stories with an historical and cultural framework, for organisations promoting sustainable development and all kinds of heritage, enabling people to (re) discover their roots.

Whatever the venue, including outdoors, Isabelle's tales can be adapted for any occasion, at any time of year! For a special occasion, an investiture, a protest, a celebration or any other event, why not call on the services of Isabelle Livet?